C.ROADS

The C-ROADS project: Advocating for climate change and justice through participatory skills building is funded by the ERASMUS+ Program and aims to raise awareness among different audiences about the impact of climate change and the promotion of climate justice.

Through participatory research methods, the project seeks to develop and provide new formal and informal learning methods to promote committed community participation in these goals.

Coordinated by the Eugénio de Almeida Foundation, the project partners are: Mindshift Talent Advisory (Portugal), Danmar Computers (Poland), Istanbul Valiligi (Turkey), Solidaridad Sin Fronteras (Spain), Forum Citoyens – Burgers (Belgium), Future in Perspective (Ireland), and CEDRU (Portugal).

About the project

Climate change is undoubtedly a growing issue for our planet, affecting countries, regions, communities, and all of us individually, as well as all future generations.

The C.ROADS project's main goal is to explore the potential of existing solutions to address climate change and achieve greater and better climate justice through community-based participatory research.

Recipients

- Professionals in the areas of adult education and training;
